"The President's Transmission"

From Moparmax;

Goodwill to all dallas mopar club members. this is my april 2017 president's letter. Club activity has picked up. this saturday some of us go to shreveport for the mopar magic show, and some of us go to the cowtown show. everyone attending any car show, have a good time.

In the near future you will see an updated club website. we are working to increase new club membership, while keeping more current club members. this season i intend to promote as many if not more local car cruise evenings for a quickie saturday night meetup. my wufoo contacts are picking up. i fully expect to have two new club members in our fold shortly. both have hellcats. another challenger rt for sale, and a few new mopars belonging to club members.

We are already discussing this years mini-nats. jerry in full charge of the big show, with assistance from all of us. again, we fully intend to have a dozen more volunteers at the show, devote one full time person to the 50/50 pot, have better prizes to promote ticket sales, more organized food available, use of the upper bathroom, and discussions underway for location of the food vendor, d.j. dave, courtesy water, etc.

Also, please become more active attending monthly meetings, by speaking up, giving your two cents worth, new ideas, suggestions, and friendship. please also support the tmccc.

As all club members now know, i have been and will continue emailing all club members at least once or twice a month with club updates, and emails just before larger club events, so look forward to my words of wisdom.

The next club board meeting is friday night, 7;30pm, april 7th. location to be determined as we have an open director's seat to fill. possibly i will hold board meeting at my home in mesquite. the next monthly meeting will be at spring creek bbq, preston road, just south of lbj, 2pm, april 9th. for those attending the nascar cup race the same day, have a good time.

The first club road trip to the winery in tyler is now in planning stages, and will take place the end of april, on a saturday, and the magic club will be meeting us there. simple little get together in the parking lot, tour, lunch, and wine.

Frank (Moparmax)

Mopar Easter eggs

by David Zatz on Friday, February 13, 2015

Allpar spoke with Ram interior design chief Ryan Nagode about “Easter eggs” — little emblems or themes that aren’t obvious at first but show up under closer inspections, common in software but less common in cars.

According to Mr. Nagode, the tradition of using Easter eggs started with his boss, Klaus Busse. “We started it with the Jeeps. The 2011 Wrangler, we started doing some cool things. We did a little . . . some little stuff in the frit with the little Willys going up the side of the frit and the Jeep grills and the headlamps and stuff.”

He said it was easier to do the Easter eggs with Jeeps, adding coordinates of trails and the Arctic Circle and such; “ some things that maybe gets people interested and it’ s not so blatant. It’ s something someone has to go back and type those coordinates and see where it’ s at.” He also noted that the Jeep Cherokee uses the 1941 Willys as the parallel-parking vehicle in the electronic display. He noted that they tell where some of them are, but leave others to customers to find out.

The Ram Rebel, for example, has the tire tread pattern echoed in the seats and the stereo background, and various trucks have the Ram logo and name embedded in the headlight assemblies. Mr. Nagode said the motifs have a practical aspect: “ I think it’ s a thing that brings personality to the interior and to the car in general. There’ s a little bit of a connection. ”
